Cathy McMillan was a talented athlete from the start shown by her Female Athlete of The Year Award in high school in 1964, as she excelled in baseball, bowling, basketball, and hockey as a teenager. Golf was Cathy's true calling, and it shows in her achievements.

Cathy won the 1963 Canadian Junior Girls Championship and then won the Alberta Junior Girls Championship in 1964 and 1965. She would go on to make 15 Alberta Women's Interprovincial Teams from 1965 to 1991 including the 1973 team that went on to win the team competition at Nationals. She was the runner up at the Women's Amateur 7 times between 1972 and 1984, often competing against the likes of Marilyn O'Connor, Betty Stanhope-Cole, and other Alberta Hall of Famers. When she became of age, McMillan continued her high level of play, making the Alberta Women's Senior Interprovincial team 11 straight times from 1996-2006, including the four teams that won the team competition in 1997, 1998, 1999, and 2001.

Cathy has always been a supporter of high-level women's amateur golf in the province and took her dedication and passion for golf from the course to the board room after her days of competing, as the Director of Player Development for Alberta Golf from 2004-2009. Even now, she continues to volunteer with junior golf programs at the club level.
